

2025 NHC Washington Representative Retreat

OVERVIEW

The National Health Council understands that the major driver of change for patients in the health ecosystem will be realized through legislative and regulatory participation and advocacy. As a critical component of our mission, we convene twice annually with experts and leading patient advocates to inform and accelerate change reflects the needs and wants of patients.

The annual Washington Representatives Retreat (WRR) brings together high-level government relations, public policy, and advocacy staff from leading patient advocacy and health care organizations to learn more about and discuss the most pressing policy issues in the health care environment. Attendees have an opportunity to provide input to NHC staff on priority public policy issues and strategies for the following year. The meeting agenda and speaker selection are guided by a member planning committee to ensure it provides optimal benefit to attendees. The 2025 event is planned for November 20-21st in Annapolis, MD.
